

of his allotted number of arms and legs.

He was turned loose in the last four innings yesterday, mainly because there was no one else available. And he proceeded to pitch a bright bit of ball. He gave four hits and three passes in the four innings, but was a bear when danger threatened.

Six Cards fell on whiffs. And these feats were stuck in at the right time. In the tenth the first two Cards hit, putting men on second and third with none out. Then Zabel forced the next man to pop to second base. He fanned the second and third outs.

That showed the youngster has the proper fighting spirit, and does not blow, as do some of our ambitious young men. He should be given larger opportunities.

After today's game in St. Louis the Cubs return to their home lot for a series with Brooklyn, the first of the Eastern teams.

Joe Tinker and his Feds, balked in their last two home games by rain, are ready for an invasion of the East. Buffalo will be the first stop. The local team is in good condition, and the full strength will be on the field for the delectation of the Easterners.

Alexander held Brooklyn to six hits, the lone run being a homer by Daubert. Cravath drove home the two Philly runs with a single. Paskert got three hits.

Perdue and Fromme were both pounded in the Boston-New York game and James and Marquard did the rescuing. Merkle of the Giants and Schmidt of the Braves, each first basemen, pounded a homer and single apiece. New York got 12 hits.

Chief Bender is right, and Connie Mack is happy. The Indian held Washington to one hit in five innings after Pennock and Brown had been chased for wildness. Ayers, Engel and Gallia were hit hard. McInnis got three singles and Strunk a double and single.

Walsh, Holden and Maisel bunched triples with Red Sox errors to give Chance's team an easy win. Caldwell held the Red Sox easily.

Fifteen thousand people attended the first Fed game in Brooklyn and saw the locals lose, with Tom Seaton pitching. Camnitz held the Tip Tops to five hits. Bradley drove home the two Pittsburgh runs after Seaton had issued two passes in the first.

Krapp handed Baltimore the game in Buffalo when he forced in the winning run with a pass. Fourteen thousand fans saw the battle. Hanford of Buffalo got a home run. Walsh got two doubles. Frank Smith pitched steady ball for seven innings.

Indianapolis nosed out Kay See, Packard weakening in the last three innings. Moseley was a puzzle to the Packers. Kauff and Laporte each got four hits. Scherr and Goodwin whaled three apiece.

THE DIFFERENCE

He—H'm, I'd look as good as you in that kind of a dress.

She—You might look as good, but you wouldn't get as many looks.